

Ines Siepmann

Ines Siepmann is a young public health professional with a focus on transferring health equity theory to policy and practice. She completed dual master's degrees through the Europubhealth+ programme, earning an MPH from the University of Sheffield and an MSc in Governance and Leadership in European Public Health at Maastricht University. She currently works as a policy researcher at Rohde Public Policy, coordinates the Young Professionals Program for ASPHER and participates in ASPHER's COVID-19 Task Force. Her research focus is primarily on public health capacity building through equitable and effective communication and inclusion of marginalized voices.